Learning Transfer Platform (LTP)

Training company?

Add more value and sell more training

L&D? HR?

Stop wasting your training budget

Measure your success

Maximise training ROI

Drive tangible business results

Drive behaviour change after training

Put learning to work and improve performance

DRIVE ensures you...

- Get full value for money invested in training *(over 80% of training budgets is currently wasted.
You've heard the figures)*
- Optimise the training process by leveraging the full power of the 70:20:10 philosophy
- Turn training from a one-off event into a fully supported learning and performance journey
- Engage and involve managers in post training activities
- Embed skills that change behaviours in the workplace
- Transfer training investment into real business value
- Have measures that prove your training is working

People learn best by doing, so let's get them doing things that drive the learning and change you want!

DRIVE takes what you do in the training room and makes it come alive by giving delegates tasks and assignments before and after the training events. This prepares your delegates for a successful training course, and then embeds the new behaviours and learning directly into their workflow

DRIVE supports the manager or mentor to debrief the tasks, and verifies that the desired workplace changes have been achieved

DRIVE holds the learner and manager accountable for change and results, and highlights those who are doing well, and those who are not

DRIVE includes before and after measures to prove change and ROI

DRIVE can be easily

- added to existing training programmes
- linked to your LMS or other systems

DRIVE Learning Transfer Platform – guarantees training lives on

Testimonials

"The DRIVE LTP is easy, measurable and builds informal learning into the culture of an organisation. The learners enjoy the practical activities, and that means transferable development that delivers tangible results. From the moment we engaged People Alchemy we were fully supported in building our own pathways. This platform is the future of organisational learning."

Nikki Owen, Leadership & Charisma Expert,
The Charisma Connection

"We introduced DRIVE as the platform to support our new Electric Coaching Programme at the end of 2015 and have found its interactive style a very good way of helping candidates really embed their learning into their workplace. Its modular design enabled us to develop a series of short practical activities that encouraged candidates to engage with the self-managed element of our programme."
